

If you had been with Kenneth Ambrose and your editor in the Senate Sub-Committee hearing on Red river flood-control projects in Washington last Tuesday you might have thought the Millwood dam rated comparatively little attention.

Of 40 persons addressing the Sub-Committee the Arkansas delegation were the very last to speak, Hope appearing for Millwood, and Nashville opposing it. The spotlight very definitely was on the men from Louisiana and east Texas. But there is a natural explanation — and when I've given it to you it should be clear that matters couldn't have been different.

Public works projects follow a beaten trail. First they are in the planning stage. Then they are crystallized into a "project report," when location, specifications, and blueprints are published as final. And the last stage is actual construction — when big money is required of the Congress.

Up to this time Millwood has been in the planning stage. The purpose of the Hope delegation's trip to Washington was to reinforce the Red River Valley association's 1954-55 fiscal program, they having notified us they were going before the Senate Sub-Committee with a request for $250,000 to prepare a project report on Millwood.

And the Red River Valley association did make that request for Millwood and both Ambrose and I spoke in its behalf. If the $250,000 is appropriated in this session then a year from now our section and the Red River Valley association may be back in Washington pounding on congress' door for construction funds.

But the major part of last Tuesday's hearing was necessarily devoted to the project that is a year ahead of Millwood — the Ferrell's Bridge dam in east Texas for which the Red river valley folks are now asking construction money.

The Ferrell's Bridge project was the reason for all those Louisiana and east Texas folks being in the committee room — and all their senators were present, too: Allen J. Ellender, a member of the Sub-Committee, and Russell Long, both of Louisiana; and Lyndon Johnson, Senate Minority leader, and Price Daniels, both of Texas. Arkansas' John L. McClellan was there as a Sub-Committee member and with Arkansas now coming into the picture as Millwood dam moves along on the timetable Rep. Owen Harris sat in on the senators' meeting.

Generally speaking it was an atmosphere wholly friendly to river valley development. It is common knowledge that Washington, watching the course of national business, is prepared to expedite public works if the economic index slips too far this spring and summer. At one point in the hearing this sentiment boiled to the surface and came out in short words — from a senator, not from the citizen visitors.

Sen. Guy Cordon, Republican, Oregon, interrupted Roy T. Sessums, director of Louisiana State Department of Public Works, with this remark:

"It seems to me we are spending billions abroad when we need a few millions here at home."

The senator drew prolonged applause from the visiting firemen, and there was obvious agreement among the other seven senators and the congressman. I have mentioned only five senators. The other two were Henry C. Dworshak, Republican, Idaho, presiding over the meeting; and Carl Hayden, Democrat, Arizona.

At the time he was interrupted Mr. Sessums was registering Louisiana's support of Texas in the matter of the Ferrell's Bridge dam. And a complaint, too, Mr. Sessums said that when the Corps of Engineers made their report they said it would cost a minimum of $650,000 to start construction, but the Red River Valley association said it would be closer to 1 million — yet the Budget Bureau had cut the initial figure on Ferrell's Bridge down to $305,000. That was when Senator Cordon made his remark about overseas spending of billions of dollars when a few millions were needed at home.

F. F. Webb, Jr., president of the Red River Valley association, after calling for construction funds for the project report on Millwood, went on to say that the administration ought to include in the 1954-55 budget an extra 100 millions for river work all over America.

Mr. Sessums, the Louisiana public works director, told the senators that the Ferrell's Bridge dam would cut Red river's flood stage in Louisiana between one and two feet. My information in the committee hearing, although unofficial was that Millwood dam would cut the river stage by about the same footage.

Batchelor Is Charged With Helping Reds

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (UP) — Cpl. Claude Batchelor, a former war prisoner who stayed with the Reds and then changed his mind and returned to freedom, was arrested today at an army hospital and charged with helping the Reds while he was in prison camp.

The government charged the Kermit, Tex., soldier's collaboration with the enemy "caused other American prisoners of war punishment and hardship."

Twenty-four American prisoners at first decided to stay with the Reds in Korea. Only Cpl. Edward Dickinson of Crickets Neck, Va., and Batchelor later changed their minds and decided to return home.

Dickinson had already been charged because of his activities while in prison.

Batchelor told reporters after he returned to American hands in Korea that he changed his mind and decided to return to freedom largely because of love letters from his Japanese wife.

His wife, Kyoko Araki Batchelor, is still in Japan but Batchelor told newsmen last week he expected the army would fly her to his home in Kermit within a few weeks.

Batchelor was arrested at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio, where he was undergoing a medical checkup.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former employee at the Federal Telecommunications Laboratories at Nutley, N. J., testified today he had been a Communist. A fellow employee whom he named as a Communist refused to say if this were true.

Peter A. Gragis of Long Island, N. Y., testifying before the Senate Investigations subcommittee, said he had "made the mistake" of joining the Communist party in 1936. He said he broke with it in 1950.

He said that while working at the Telecommunications Laboratories, a private firm, another employee named Frank McGee was the educational leader of a Communist cell to which he belonged.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) the subcommittee chairman, asked whether McGee were present. A heavy-set, bespectacled man wearing a dark blue shirt stood up among the crowded spectators and identified himself as McGee.

Called to the witness chair, McGee was asked if he had been the educational director of the Communist cell described by Gragis. McGee refused to answer invoking his constitutional protection against possible self incrimination. He similarly declined to answer when asked about other testimony Gragis had given.

L. R. College May Go Four Years

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Granville D. Davis, president of Little Rock Junior College, said yesterday that trustees will decide by April 15 if the school is to become a four-year institution.

Davis said means of financing such a change is being studied. If the conversion is made, LRJC will add a third year in the September, 1954 semester. The fourth year will be added in 1955.

Davis said a report from the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities indicated that nothing drastic stood in the way of having the school accredited as a four-year institution.

IN POSITION — Pfc. Marvin S. Belsky, an Army doctor serving at Murphy Hospital, Waltham, Mass., refused to tell Senate subcommittee whether he is a Communist. Sen. McCarthy charged Belsky is "in a position to constantly contact" patients who have working on project Lincoln, described as a top-secret project near the hospital. — NEA Telephoto.

New York Port Paralyzed by Wildcat Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Wildcat strikers tied up New York's sprawling port today, defying a federal court order in a battle for union control of the waterfront.

Resentful members of the Independent International Longshoremen's Association refused to work the luxury liner and other ships in Manhattan and stayed off the job at piers in Brooklyn and Staten Island.

Waterfront police reported the rival AFL union of the same name also refused to report to work at struck piers, apparently to avoid any brawling.

The two unions are fighting for control of the dock workers. The striking IILA longshoremen said they acted because of a federal court restraining order obtained against them in federal court yesterday by the National Labor Relations Board.

Passengers boarding the Elizabeth were forced to carry their own luggage. The Cunard Line mustered about 100 office workers to help out.

ILA leaders ordered the men to stay on the jobs, but IILA President William V. Bradley last night called the court order "discriminatory." He said the men "are so angry we can't tell what will happen."

Beer Is Beer, Chancery Rules

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Beer by any other name is still beer, Pulaski Chancery Rodney Parham ruled yesterday.

He said that "Country Club Malt Liquor" is subject to the same regulations and taxation as if it were labeled beer.

Attorneys for distributors of the malt product which follows the legal beer standard of less than five per cent alcohol sought the ruling.

Because it was designated as liquor, the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board had sought to subject the average to taxation and regulations applying to whiskey and other "hard" liquor.

Increasing Cost of County Government Seen in 5-Year Salary Scale, Deputies

By PAUL H. JONES

When a candidate calls for the vote of the good people of Hempstead County, chances are he means just that, because the people of the county have been good to those who are elected.

At least good in so far as salaries go for various county offices. Going back to 1947 through 1952, last year's audit is not available yet, the records shows a steady increase in the cost of the administration of county offices.

In fact the cost jumped from $50,482.98 in 1947 to $60,710.35 in 1952, a difference of $18,819.66.

This increase can be reflected partly in the rising cost of various supplies but more than likely the greater portion is due to the hiring of additional deputies. In 1947 various offices required the help of 11 persons while in 1952 the number increased to 15.

A state law fixes the maximum salary of $5,000 to the office holder. But apparently there is no limit to the number of deputies an officeholder can hire nor any fixed salary which these deputies can be paid.

Ironically the figure shows that perhaps one of the most important offices today also pays the least, the assessors office. Those familiar with courthouse activities say the "workhorse" of all the offices is that of county clerk. Everything in the courthouse either starts or ends up in this office.

For instance the treasurer's office is merely repetition of work done by the clerk. The clerk does everything that the treasurer does except write the checks but has to make out the warrants from which the checks are written. Yet the treasurer's office costs the county a great deal more than the clerk's, and apparently requires as much extra help.

Many believe that the day is not far off when the treasurer's office will be abolished entirely and be handled by the clerk.

Back in 1929 through 1932 Miss Lillie Middlebrooks was elected treasurer on the platform that she would do all the work herself, without deputies and turn back the fees to the county. She drew a salary of $300 per month.

This was a fine gesture from a candidate but apparently one that was not followed by any other.

Unused money from the fee offices goes back to the county and is divided between various departments. Full affect of a decrease in assessments in Hempstead will likely be sorely felt next year and the assessment is almost sure to drop because livestock alone was reduced a flat 50 per cent.

Included in the following figures is the cost of deputies, stenographers, office supplies and in some offices allowance for mileage and salaries of office holders.

Democrats Claim GOP Widely Split

By JACK BELL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Democrats gathering here for a uniting cementing rally claimed today that the Eisenhower-McCarthy split among Republicans has left them as the nation's only "party of responsibility."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader, sounded the keynote of this South-eastern party conference when he said in an interview that "we are giving to the country what the Republicans promised and unity."

"We will go to the people next November on our record of performance and our record as the party of responsibility," he said.

Johnson, one of the speakers at a $100-a-plate dinner here Saturday night when former Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois will give the principal address, declined to comment on the most recent dispute between President Eisenhower and Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) except to say "that's a Republican problem."

Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, who flew in from Washington last night, said he has advocated a single, joint Senate-House investigating committee.

Official in the executive department must, with several congressional investigations operating, "spend too much time on the Hill" testifying before committees seeking the same answers, Russell said.

Reds Blow Up Airport in Indochina

HANOI, Indochina, Thursday, March 4 (delayed) (AP) — French army headquarters announced that Communist-led Vietnamese commandoes raided Hanoi's big civil airport, five miles away at Gialam, and blew up an undisclosed number of airplanes today.

The exact losses were not disclosed. But army spokesmen said "several planes" had either been destroyed or partially wrecked in explosion.

In Saigon, the French high command announced that "about a dozen" aircraft were damaged or partially destroyed in the raid. It said most of the planes were C47s belonging to private companies and equipped by the army to transport military personnel.

French censorship of dispatches from Indochina has grown increasingly strict in recent months. Presumably this accounted for the delay in this dispatch.

State Seeks to Recover VA Funds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state of Arkansas soon will file a petition with the Veterans Administration demanding that the federal agency repay $755,442 to the state Education Department.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Claude Carpenter said yesterday that the petition will be handed to VA officials as soon as it is signed by state Education Commissioner Arch Ford.

Want-Ad Killer to Get the Gas Chamber

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Death in San Quentin prison's gas chamber is the fate of Anthony J. Zilbauer.

The 52-year-old ex-convict yesterday was convicted by a jury of first degree murder in the fatal shooting last Nov. 21 of Andrew Kmiec, an insurance adjuster. The jury made no recommendation.

Under California law, the absence of any recommendation for leniency makes the death sentence mandatory. Sentence will be passed next Monday morning.

Zilbauer was accused of killing Kmiec to obtain his car.

A few hours after the verdict, Zilbauer's 24-year-old wife, Geraldine, who declined to testify in his behalf, exploded the principal point in the defense. Zilbauer had maintained he sought a showdown with Kmiec because he learned Kmiec had ravished Mrs. Zilbauer.

In an interview she said: "I never met Mr. Kmiec. It wasn't my idea to say I had. It was Tony. He asked me if I would testify that I had known him. I wanted to do anything in the world to help him. At first I told Tony I'd testify to his story. Then, for weeks, I couldn't sleep at night, thinking about it. To be honest, it wasn't until a half-hour before I was to take the stand that I definitely decided not to testify."

Workers Who Left State Are Hard Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The horde of Arkansians who left the state to seek better jobs in the huge industries of the east and midwest are returning to their home state in droves.

State employment officials said yesterday that they have established that as one definite reason for the widespread unemployment that recently gripped northeast Arkansas' sprawling agricultural area.

Mrs. Ava F. Webb, head of the state Employment Security Division's Reports and Analysis Section, said yesterday that 14,350 persons have filed new interstate claims for unemployment compensation since last October.

That compares with 8,443 claims filed for the corresponding fifteen-month period of 1952-53 — an increase of 69.8 per cent.

"Interstate claims" are those applications for aid filed with the ESD as the result of unemployment in other states. If the claims are approved, the money to pay for them comes from the other state.

The state agency said it didn't have figures to show where most of the new claims were filed because individual records are kept in local offices.

However, Charles Kirby, manager of the Little Rock ESD office, said a great number of the persons filing new claims here were laid off by timber mills in Oregon and Washington and factories in Detroit and other industrial centers.

The ESD figures also show that out-of-state people who've been laid off jobs in Arkansas are moving to other areas. For example, the number of jobless workers filing claims in other states as a result of lost jobs in Arkansas totaled 1,232 last month.

Two local students are on the Dean fall semester honor roll at the University of Arkansas.

Our mistake... G. W. Lookadoo hasn't officially filed in the race for Congress... he has only announced he intends to soon.

Six Marines Killed in Explosion

SEOUL (UP) — The accidental explosion of an 82-MM mortar shell during a training demonstration killed at least six U. S. Marines and injured 20 near here yesterday, it was announced today.

Several of the wounded men are on the critical list.

The explosive loaded projectile exploded in a quonset hut where a Marine instructor was demonstrating ways of using U. S. artillery fuses with enemy ammunition. Unconfirmed reports said the instructor, who was killed, accidentally dropped the shell.

The explosion blew out the doors and windows of the hut and tore gaping holes in its walls.

The 1st Marine Division promptly mobilized all its helicopters to fly doctors to the scene and bring casualties out to medical companies or — in the case of the more seriously injured — to a hospital ship in Inchon harbor.

Helicopters also were used to rush emergency supplies of whole blood to the medical companies. A fourth died late yesterday, and the others died during the night.

Names of the men killed or injured in the explosion were withheld until their families have been notified.

Plane Missing 24 Hours Is Sought

MARSEILLE, France (UP) — Airmen and skiers fanned out over the French Alps today seeking traces of a U. S. Air Force transport missing for 24 hours over southern Europe 20 persons aboard.

Association, meeting in Texarkana last night, elected Thomas C. Hays, First National Bank cashier, to the state association's nominating committee.

Mr. Hays is currently treasurer of the organization.

John Black, Arkadelphia, former Hope resident was named chairman of the group.

Tangle With McCarthy Is Responsible

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army Department was reported today to be mired for a jarring administrative shake-up to correct conditions which touched off the works between President Eisenhower and Sen. Joseph S. McCarthy.

Defense Secretary Charles Wilson is represented as being fed up with the army's peacetime set up for handling personnel. He calls 14 months too long to do cover and get rid of an undesirable officer or enlisted man.

The United Press was informed that Wilson intended to do something about it. Whether reorganization would affect high ranking individuals or merely the administrative procedure governing the operations was not yet evident.

There was no indication that Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens was under Wilson's fire.

The Defense Secretary dropped a hint of the projected shake-up at his news conference yesterday when he said there would be an effort to improve army organization "before long."

"We have a wonderful group of men in the army," he said. "But they are much better organized to fight in the field than they are to operate in peacetime."

The main purpose of the organization is the initiation of a Cadet program for boys from 15 to 18 years of age. The program will be complete program will be presented to the Hope High School students in the near future.

It is hoped that with the aid of the government ocean airplane much interest will be stimulated in aviation in this area. There is no cost to the boys who enroll in the CAP Cadet program.

Professor Is Fake, Teaches in College

DURHAM, N. H., (UP) — A fake professor has been teaching advanced physics at the University of New Hampshire for more than a year, college officials closed today.

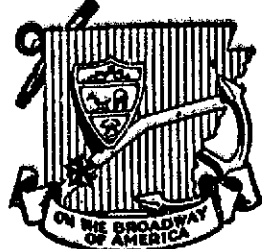

They identified the self-proclaimed professor as Marvin Hewitt, Philadelphia, who had only a school education. When his name was uncovered, they said, town:

Hewitt was described as a tall, thin, dark-haired man who had taught himself so well that he was able to teach two advanced courses without instruction.

Edward D. Eddy, Jr., to President Robert F. Clark, said Hewitt told officials he had been a physics teacher at a school in Philadelphia, but he had never been there.

When the Roberts went to the town next week they took a tour of the town and saw the town.

Miss Lenore Hatfield Is Bride Of

James D. Brosius
On Friday night, February 26 at seven o'clock, Miss Lenore Hatfield and James D. Brosius were married in the Anderson Union Baptist Church at Spring Hill. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Callie Hatfield and the late W. E. Hatfield of Hope. Mr. Brosius' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ed L. Brosius of Hope. The Reverend Clifford Palmer of Bentonville, performed the double ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged by candlelight before an altar banked with greenery, floor baskets of gladioli, white stock calla lilies, and candelabra holding long white tapers. Nuptial selections were played by Dr. James W. Branch, organist. Mrs. James A. McLarty, Jr. was soloist. The traditional wedding marches were used.

Little Miss Carolyn Williams, niece of the bride, lighted the candles. She was dressed in a frock of white tulle and wore a headband of white carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, A. L. Hatfield, of Houston, chose a floor length gown of ivory slipper satin ending in a cathedral train. The bodice was designed with a nylon tulle yoke with inserts of Chantilly lace. The long sleeves ended in lily points over the hands. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was caught to a bandeau of orange blossoms. An arm bouquet of white stock, white chrysanthemums and carnations was carried, tied with streamers of white satin. Her only jewelry was a pearl choker.

Mrs. Hershel Williams, sister of the bride, was the honor attendant. Her ballerina length gown was of green tulle with a scalloped neckline and cap sleeves. She carried a nosegay of mixed spring flowers.

The bridesmaids, Miss Betty Fincher of Hope, and Mrs. A. L. Hatfield of Houston, Texas, sister-in-law of the bride, wore dresses identical to that of the matron of honor. They carried nosegays of spring flowers.

Hershel Williams served as best man. Ushers were James Herbert Bristow and Roy Dale Fry.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hatfield chose a street length dress of navy blue with navy accessories. Her corsage was white carnations. Mrs. Brosius, mother of the groom, was attired in a light blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Maggie Arnett, aunt of the bride.

The dining table, covered with a cloth of eggshell lace, held an arrangement of spring flowers, and was centered with the tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

A bowl of mixed spring flowers was placed on the buffet. Mrs. Hershel Williams presided at the punch bowl. Miss Betty Fincher served the cake.

Miss Aileen Jester was in charge of the bride's book.

For travel the bride wore a pink suit with black accessories. She pinned a corsage of white carnations at her shoulder.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 817 South Main.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been married for two years to a man 20 years my senior. I am now 20. Shortly after our marriage I met a young man whom I had known in high school. At one time we dated. He is still single and claims the reason he never married is that he always loved me.

My husband knows the young man, too, and we three have become very friendly. We often go together to the movies, dinner and even or trips. The young man is lots of fun, while my husband is more subdued. My husband is very difficult to please, very set in his ways, and I know I love the other man more. My husband and I knew each other only two weeks when we married, and now I wish I had waited a while. Should I go on the way we are, tell my husband how I feel about our friend, or just leave home? Ethel G.

Confusion Evident

Answer: I have gleaned your problem from the letter that at times verged on the incoherent. That you are mixed up is very evident, but the confusion isn't due so much to the fact that you love another man, or think you do, as it is to your urgent desire to have a love affair, and keep your marriage intact.

A frantic desire for security apparently motivates your life. You married your husband for just that reason, plus the fact that you probably thought he'd be your last, or only, chance for matrimony and grabbed him in a hurry. Now, you see a more desirable man in your life, but the Johnny-come-lately lacks the stability of your spouse.

I notice particularly that you have absolutely nothing definite to say against your husband, so I judge there is little with which you could find fault. He isn't much fun you claim — yet he seems very willing to take you out, to give you the enjoyment you want. He's hard to get along with, is another of your complaints, which simmers down to the blunt fact that you simply haven't adjusted yourself after a brief marriage of two years. That will come later, and with the other fine qualities your man has — his undoubted love for you, his steadiness, his desire to give you all the material things he can — you had better stick with him and do something to make this marriage a success. If possible, avoid telling him you love or think you do someone else. Make some other excuse for dissolving the trio and resuming your married life as a twosome.

Dear Miss Dix Although Paul and I haven't dated for several weeks, I still like him. He's going with another girl, but I don't know whether that's just to make me jealous or not. I'm 14 and he's 18. Gloria M.

Answer You had better assume that he really likes the girl and has no ulterior motive in dating her. A boy of 18 is scarcely ready for steady dating; for that matter, neither is a girl of 14. So put this little romance behind you, Gloria.

Dear Miss Dix I'm the young daughter of fairly well-to-do parents. Recently my father took into his employ a young man who spoke very little English. I helped him with his studies, and now we are

Cage Attendance Up in Southwest

DALLAS (AP) — Attendance at 75 Southwest Conference basketball home games last season drew 181,242 spectators, an increase of 18,627 over the 1952-53 season.

However, the average attendance per game dropped from 2,541 to 2,512. Arkansas, Texas, Rice, Southern Methodist and Baylor registered attendance.

When Mickey showed up at the Yankee camp the other day, Casey painstakingly informed him that he was to do practically nothing except take the sun for a few days, and very little after that. Baiting practice was out until much more was known about the condition of the knee which might have a vital bearing on the American League race.

"So the next thing I see," Casey bawled, "is Mr. Mantle in the batting cage. The first one he hit bounced over that center field fence out there. At least he was kind enough to limit himself to hitting only right handed. And of course I find out later that he slipped on a knee which might have a vital bearing on the American League race."

A listener, thinking to take some of the heat off the Oklahoma flash, suggested that maybe Mickey didn't know what he was supposed to do.

"Doesn't know," the professor exploded. "What do you mean he doesn't know? I tell him and the trainer tells him and he still doesn't know? How are you going to make a man understand some thing except by telling him? That's the only way I know of, but it doesn't seem to work here."

Mantle later insisted that the knee felt all right to him, adding that it was his knee, Stengel then turned his attention to another noted invalid in his camp, pitcher Ewell Blackwell. The lean right hander has been voluntarily retired with arm trouble since last season, and is trying desperately to get back on the champions' payroll.

"Watching him warm up there, he looks all right," Casey commented hopefully. "He's throwing pretty hard and he says the arm doesn't have any pain. I hope he's right, but he can't tell and nobody else can until he pitches in a regular game. Just throwing a ball doesn't mean anything. I'm going to let him go a few innings against the Cardinals this weekend and then maybe I'll know something."

Casey still sits and grunts with pure pleasure as he watches his newest 18 year old phenom from Oklahoma, Ralph Terry pitch batting practice. Terry is the remarkable youngster the Yanks won from the St. Louis Cardinals on a decision by Commissioner Ford Frick.

"I've said it before and it will bear repeating, I think," Stengel said. "There is the greatest prospect I ever saw come up. He might be pitching for this club two years from now. In fact, he's going to do some pitching for me very shortly."

In a

Spiritually Speaking,

visibility with you may be zero,

the fog too heavy to pierce. To find your way may be extremely difficult. But comrade, you haven't looked up. There is a star in the heavens and a cross in the sky. He is the same God in the mists as He is on the sunny day. Why not visit your church? You have only to raise your head in recognition of God. The fog will roll away...you'll have direction again. He can smite you low or raise you high. But He is your friend. Then look up and you'll find things different.
